

EXPLORING ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY

Queens students, faculty and staff are spending the fall semester focused on the topic of economic opportunity. The learning experience begins broadly with topics discussed in J.D. Vance’s “Hillbilly Elegy” and then narrows to localized reflections through Pamela Grundy’s “Color & Character”. We invite you to join us!

Economic Opportunity Perspective Series

This three-part series features Queens academic leadership and community members.

- ▶ October 4 at 6 PM First Generation College Attendees’ Perspective on Community
- ▶ October 11 at 6 PM Healthcare Providers’ Perspective on Education and Resource Stability
- ▶ October 18 at 6 PM Historians’ Perspective on Wealth and Racial Segregation

A Conversation with J.D. Vance, author of “Hillbilly Elegy”

Purchase tickets to the discussion facilitated by Richard Reeves, Senior Fellow at the Brookings Institution and author of “Dream Hoarders.”

- ▶ October 23 at 7 PM at Knight Theater

On The Table CLT Discussion

Queens is a host site for the annual On The Table Program. This year’s topic is The Legacy of Segregation and Its Continued Impact.

- ▶ October 24 at 6:30 PM

Hear from West Charlotte Alum

A panel of engaged community members who graduated from West Charlotte share their Charlotte-centric educational experiences.

- ▶ October 30 at 6 PM

Learn Lessons from the Past & Lessons for the Future

A lecture about the story of West Charlotte High School by “Color & Character” author Pamela Grundy.

- ▶ November 7 at 6 PM